TOWN ENGINEER STEVEN TANNER

- Update on flooding issues in Lexington Green and other parts of town and efforts to reduce the risk
 - ✓ Study by Army Corps of Engineers to focus on Lexington Green will be three phases – 1) determination for justification of federal interest (funding should be in place in 60 days and process will take 6 to 9 months); 2) feasibility study (could take up to 36 months); 3) project is selected (may or may not be economically justifiable)
 - ✓ Berm is to be left in place with no adjustments to how it stands
 - ✓ Pumps are mobilized in Lexington Green and throughout town in typical trouble spots to help with snow melt but cannot stop ice dam issues
 - ✓ May cut triangular relief cuts throughout the creeks to help break up ice
 - ✓ Plan to buy elastomeric valves in late spring/early summer and install product in catch basins to prevent water from flowing through storm sewers into neighborhoods and basements to help reduce flooding
 - ✓ Disaster Coordinator John Gullo stated within ten days they will be renting a 60 ft. reach excavator to access Buffalo Creek from Harlem Road Bridge and Union Road Bridge, and if necessary, Cazenovia Creek from Ridge Road Bridge

- ✓ Fire departments have pumps available and ready to go
- ✓ School buses will be available and on standby to transport displaced residents
- ✓ Homeowners especially in flood plain should be prepared for potential flooding by moving valuables off basement floor

 - ✓ large amount of overtime and double time in 2014 due in part to collapse at Mineral Springs Road
 - ✓ crew consists of workers assigned to Highway Department so they get overtime when called out for plowing as well as for sewer backups

 - ✓ pump maintenance crew overtime was in line and at normal level

FINANCE DIRECTOR LUKE MALECKI

- Met with board members and some department heads on year end 2014 figures
 - ✓ Estimated to be $700,000 over budget on health insurance line ($5,000,000)
 - ✓ Monitoring eight line items that are risky (IT costs; legal costs; overtime in Highway & Sanitation Departments due to storms; overall expenses in Police Department; recreation revenues; street lighting contract)
 - ✓ Supervisor Meegan stated the town will be going out to bid on Modern recycling contract to try to reduce those costs; looking at charging recreation fees which historically has never been done
- Councilman Hart questioned the status of the transfer to the Highway Fund and Mr. Malecki responded the preliminary figures reported are fairly close
- Councilman Hanley asked that the unions be informed of the status of town finances in light of it being contract season and Mr. Malecki thought it would be more appropriate coming from the auditor who is completely independent from the town
